I'm an accomplished logistics leader currently serving as the Transportation Manager for McLane Company's New Jersey Division. Over the past three years, I have overseen a large-scale operation consisting of seven supervisors, seven clerks, and 160 drivers, ensuring seamless delivery services to 450 Wawa convenience stores across five states.

My professional success is rooted in a distinguished 30-year career in the US Army. Having held numerous leadership positions during my military service, I bring a disciplined, strategic, and mission-focused approach to high-volume transportation and supply chain management
